state. They're there. All they will have to do is to be copied and then submitted to the local assessor when they fill out the application forms. County assessors will keep those worksheets only as long as they need them. The filings, the applications they will keep, but they will not necessarily need to keep those worksheets. They will have them in the office to do desk audits, to be able to do comparisons, to look at what they want, the resources will be there. I've been told over and over by local county officials, the state is very good in passing all types of statutes and laws since they are an extension of state government, but so many times we don't give them direction nor the tools to implement the statutes that we pass. Keeping in mind that 1063 is a new way, new way that's not been...that we've not had in the state before in assessing personal property on a depreciation schedule, this should only help the process, not hinder it. I urge you to support the amendment to 1063. Thank you.
